School Crisis Solution Up To Educators

LANSING (AP) — Educators must start "the doggondest education campaign the people have seen" to convince them to support higher expenditures for Michigan schools, Gov. George Romney said Thursday night.

"Or there has to be a crisis," before the people will act, the governor added.

Several members of the state's brand new board of education emphasized this same theme at the opening session of the Michigan Conference on Higher Education.

"I don't really believe the people of Michigan realize the full extent of the problem facing them and the need for money," said Peter Oppewall of Grand Rapids.

"If we can't support education properly in times of prosperity, what will we do if there is a slight depression?" he asked the meeting of educators.

Some of the eight board members, all Democrats, outlined what they considered important tasks ahead for the board.

One of them, Donald M. D. Thurber, cautioned, though: "The board can't do all at once—and must resist the temptation to try to do so."

Thurber was among those who called for a master plan for Michigan education.

The present superintendent of public instruction, Lynn Bartlett, who gradually will yield policy making duties to the board beginning Jan. 1, said one of the first things the board must deal with is extending public education below the kindergarten level.

Conservation Budget Is Record 32.09 Million

LANSING (AP) — A record budget of $32.09 million was approved by the State Conservation Commission today with the blessing of Gov. George Romney.

The commission also approved a proposed program to be presented to the 1965 legislature — including the idea of hiking the present $2 fishing license fee to $3 and charging wives—who now fish free—for licenses.

Romy, at a drop-in meeting with the commissioners Thursday, said his recommendations were to "try to frame an improvement in the present appropriation."

The governor indicated, however, that he would not go all the way with the proposal, probably slicing several million.

The proposed budget is up some $11.7 million from last year.

"There is not a fat dime in this budget," declared Conservation Department Director Ralph MacMullan. "It is the minimum we need to do a good job of natural resources management."

The proposed spending, still to be approved by the legislature as forwarded to it by Romney, includes $22.4 million for department operations and $9.7 million for capital outlay.

About $8.5 million of the capital outlay money would be spent on expansion of the state park services, where public pressure demands, MacMullan said.

The commission, at its informal meeting, talked over various proposals to be presented to the 1965 legislature — some sure to be unpopular.

In the unpopular suggestions were included the idea of hiking the Michigan residence fishing fee $2 to $3 and making wives—who now fish free—buy their own license.

The commission agreed unanimously to fight in the next legislature for abolishment of the bounty system. This pays out some $250,000 a year for bounties on nuisance animals, mostly foxes.

It also was suggested that the department ask the legislature to allow setting special deer seasons in the southern Lower Peninsula because of the high incidence of deer-car accidents.

Wet Weather Predicted For Season Opener

Watch out, deer. A record number of hunters are expected to take a near record number of bucks, does and fawns this fall.

The army invading the fields and forests is estimated at 525,000 by State Conservation Department experts. The kill is predicted at more than 130,000 whitetails, topping the 124,000 taken in 1963.

The season opens Saturday in the western Upper Peninsula and Sunday for the rest of the state.

Dedicated hunters already are halfway up by this time.

No Tracking Snow
The long range weather prediction included showers, possible snow, and cold and wet weather for the Upper Peninsula opening. The northern Lower Peninsula forecast for Sunday was for fair weather.

This adds up to fair weather for the hunters, but better for the deer. There likely will be no snow to track the whitetails.

The herd estimate this year is above the 800,000 high of last year. Department game experts say there probably will be 70,000 bucks shot and between 60,000 and 65,000 antlerless deer.

There also is the annual kill of hunters. State police last year reported only six hunters killed during the regular deer season and 56 wounded.

This was a sharp decrease from the 14 reported killed in 1962 and the modern high of 16 killed in 1952 and the highest on record of 18 hunters killed in 1943.

Farm Hunting Good
State police say their records are accurate on the killings but admit that many of the woundings are not reported. Also not taken into account in the totals are hunter heart deaths or car accidents involving hunters.

Although most of the deer will be shot in the north woods, the nimrods in the southern part of the state will take an increasing harvest.

In the southern farm belt, where the increasing herd is estimated at 60,000, the buck kill is estimated to go above the 8,000 mark, bettering last year's high of 6,800.

For the first time this year also, hunters are expected to harvest some 1,850 antlerless deer in 12 areas where such shooting has been allowed to cut down crop damage.

Urged To Register
Sections of Ottawa, Kent, Ionia, Berrien, Van Buren, Kalamazoo, Calhoun, Eaton and Livingston counties are included in the special areas.

The department pleaded, meanwhile, that all hunters sign in as soon as they reach their destination. Just furnish the name and the area to be hunted to the nearest conservation department field or district office.

This will save a lot of work if emergencies develop at home or if false reports are started that a hunter is missing.

Conservation department field workers and state police often chase into the woods after a hunter, only to find he was sleeping at a camp and unaware of the furor he caused, reported the department.

Railroad Shop Unions Schedule Strike Nov. 23

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six railroad shop unions have scheduled a strike against most of the nation's railroads for 6 a.m. (local time) Nov. 23, union sources said today.

The strike notice has not yet been served on the railroads but union general chairmen are issuing instructions to the more than 150,000 shop workers, sources said.

Federal mediators continued efforts to reach a settlement in a 17-month-old wage dispute, meeting with union spokesman Michael Fox.

J.E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator, returned to Chicago Thursday night after also meeting with mediators.

Ford Co. Starts Layoffs Tonight

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—The strike-troubled Ford Motor Co. starts a huge layoff of workers across the country tonight in what Ford President Arjay Miller says may become a full shutdown by next week.

Week-old strikes by the United Auto Workers at eight factories, including key parts and stamping plants that feed the Ford car production setup, are held to blame.

If Ford closes all its 90 plants, a total of 160,000 hourly workers will be laid off.

Ford, with 25,500 men on strike at the eight plants, announced a layoff tonight of 33,500 more at eight assembly operations and 16 manufacturing locations in several states, including key Michigan installations.

MANY PLANTS AFFECTED
DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. layoffs tonight will affect eight assembly plants and 16 manufacturing plants around the country.

Ford said the layoffs will result from eight local strikes of the United Auto Workers.

Assembly plants include those in Lorain, Ohio; Metuchen, N. J.; Dearborn and Wixom, Mich.; Norfolk, Va.; St. Paul, Minn.; and St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo.

Manufacturing plants: Cleveland and Dearborn, Mich.; stampings: Monroe, Mich.; parts: Dearborn and Lima, Ohio; engines: Dearborn iron and specialty foundries; Green Island, N. Y.; parts; Livonia, Mich.; transmission; Fairfax and Sharonville, Ohio; transmission; Canton, Ohio; forges; Indianapolis steering gear; Rawsonville, Mich.; parts Dearborn glass, and Highland Park, Mich., paint.

Russians Top U.S. On U-Boats

LONDON (AP) — The United States will still have more than a 4-to-1 edge over the Soviet Union in intercontinental ballistic missiles by early 1965, but the Soviets may begin catching up after that, a leading Western research institute estimated today.

The annual review of the Institute of Strategic Studies also said the Soviet Union is maintaining its numerical superiority in submarine strength and "there are indications that the Soviet naval air force and missile-firing submarines are coming to play a more central role in her strategy."

America's Strategic Air Command has clear superiority in the number of intercontinental bombers, the review reported, but the Soviet Union maintains a strong force of medium bombers capable of strikes at Japan or Western Europe.

The review said Communist China's army has little strategic mobility, because of primitive logistics, and its air force has only obsolescent aircraft.

But it said the Chinese nuclear test has shown "that the Chinese nuclear technology is apparently considerably more advanced than it was generally given credit for."

Open Land Blaze Sweeps 300 Acres

HASLETT (AP) — Fire swept over some 300 acres of open land Thursday night, damaging a tree farm but mainly scorched only stubble, police said.

Some 150 police, firemen and National Guardsmen turned out for the 4½-hour battle to control the blaze. As it died down, the guardsmen went over the area with shovels, turning under still smoldering patches.

No houses were touched by the flames and no injuries were reported, police said. Cause of the fire was undetermined and there was no immediate dollar estimate of damage.

Johnson Lead In Nov. 3 Vote 15.6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has a record lead of 15.6 million votes over Sen. Barry Goldwater as unofficial returns from the Nov. 3 presidential election continue to trickle in.

All but 870 of the more than 175,000 voting units having reported, the unofficial vote is: Johnson 42,374,405, Goldwater 26,731,717.

The President has 61.1 per cent of the presidential vote of 69,306,122, including some 200,000 votes cast for Democratic electors in Alabama who were not pledged to Johnson.

Carries 44 States

With 270 needed to win, Johnson rolled up 486 electoral votes by carrying 44 states and the District of Columbia. Goldwater got 52 with six states.

When the still uncounted absentee ballots and third-party votes are added about a month from now, the official vote is expected to be close to 70 million compared with 68.8 million in 1960.

But the percentage of those of voting age who cast presidential ballots apparently will be less than the 63.1 of four years ago.

A preliminary study showed that 60.8 per cent of Americans of voting age voted this year. The figure is based on the Census Bureau's estimate that 114 million Americans were of voting age on election day.

Ppsurge In South

But estimates of state officials and other observers were that only 88.9 million of the 114 million were registered or otherwise qualified to vote.

There was a strong upsurge of votes in the South. Three reasons for this were absence of poll tax requirements in five Southern states for the first time, a determined Negro registration drive and interest stirred by Goldwater. Five of the six states he carried are in the South.

Despite the upsurge, though, the South as a whole still trailed the nation. Ten of the 12 lowest participants, with 50 per cent or less casting presidential ballots, were in the South.

Leading the nation by percentage was Utah, where 76.9 per cent of the voting age citizens cast presidential ballots. Next were Minnesota with 76.4 per cent and Idaho with 75.3 per cent.

Friday The 13th To Be Lucky For One Teen-Ager

DALLAS (AP) — Fifty-two talented Miss Teen-Age America candidates met 60 singing Texas Aggies Thursday night for a "lucky Friday the 13th" party.

They got rabbit-foot charms, plenty of wood to knock on, and well-to throw wishes down. Prizes for locating lucky pennies were troll dolls, themselves considered a good luck figure.

On this Friday the 13th, one girl will be propelled into the spotlight for a year as Miss Teen-Age America, 1965, with a $10,000-college scholarship and many prizes.

The 10 semifinalists named Thursday were Gayle Brackett, 16, Atlanta, Ga.; Carolyn Magnini, 17, Baltimore, Md.; Nancy Collins, 14, Dallas; Andrea Ayers, 16, Greenville, S.C.; Lana Karen Lack, 17, Memphis, Tenn.; Sherrel Stephens, 17, Oklahoma City; Kathleen Frances Ross, 17, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Linda Licciardi, 17, San Francisco; Diana Lee Clouse, 17, Stockton, Calif.; and Debra Diethelm, 15, Toledo, Ohio.

The singing cadets from Texas A&M University surprised the candidates Wednesday night with a serenade outside the pajama party given by the outgoing teen queen, Jeanie Zavrel of Falls Church, Va.

But as Aggie James Riggs put it, the serenade was just a "formal howdy-do; Thursday night was a real mixer."

A rock 'n' roll band played for dancing between bites of barbecue. Some couples wandered to the edge of the observation deck, 41 stories above the glittering lights of Dallas. And the girls relished the week-long pageant by seeing movies of themselves.

Most Aggies were frankly impressed with the candidates, Riggs said. "They're real nice girls; very poised and, of course, nervous. They're friendly and having a good time, but are tired."

New Auto Tags Move Briskly

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's clean new license plates are selling like tickets to the sold-out Michigan State-Notre Dame football game, reports Secretary of State James Hare.

Hare estimates 200,000 of the new plates were purchased in the first week after they went on sale Nov. 2.

The new plates are maize and blue — the University of Michigan colors—and not all the sales are due to the U-M Big Ten and Rose Bowl hopes, speculates Hare, an avid football fan himself.

"Virtually all our branches are not only reporting record sales," Hare said, "but nearly without exception volume twice as high over the last time we issued new plates in 1962 and more than three times the sales in the tab years. Michigan's motorists still seem hungry for those shiny new plates."

Hare reminded that the old plates still are valid until next Feb. 28 and advised buyers of new plates to keep their old ones in a safe place until they no longer are valid.

Retired General Calls Viet Nam War Plan Wrong

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The United States is "fighting the wrong kind of war" in South Viet Nam, according to S. L. A. Marshall, retired brigadier general and the Army's chief historian in World War II.

In a speech to the Army and Navy Club here Thursday night, he called for introduction of major American infantry and armor into the Southeast Asian conflict if victory is to be realized.

Marshall claimed that conditions are worsening steadily in Viet Nam and said the policy of trying to "out-guerrilla" the Viet Cong rebels was a bad mistake.

Only by extension of conventional tactics are guerrillas ever beaten, said Marshall. "All history proves it so," he added.

U.S. Envoy Sent To Germany In NATO Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State George W. Ball flies to Germany today to confer with West German leaders on U.S.-European relations and divisions in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Ball's mission fits into a pattern of consultations among Allied leaders on a variety of Atlantic Alliance problems ranging from economic difficulties to the critical dispute over proposed formation of a seaborne NATO nuclear weapons force.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred with Netherlands and Belgian leaders here last week. Rusk is scheduled to attend a conference of NATO foreign ministers in Paris in December.

West German Defense Minister Kai-Uwe Von Hassel is in Washington talking with Rusk. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and other officials about the nuclear force issue and other defense problems.

Ball is scheduled to fly from Frankfurt to West Berlin Saturday to speak to the Fourth German American Conference, an assembly of distinguished citizens of both countries. He will also meet with Mayor Willy Brandt Saturday and attend the closing session of the German American conference on Sunday morning.

On Sunday afternoon Ball will fly to Bonn, the West German capital, where on Monday morning he will confer with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. Tuesday morning he is due to confer with Walter Hallstein, president of the European Common Market. He will return to Washington in mid-week.

Ball's major concern, officials said, is to urge settlement within the Common Market of differences over an agricultural pricing policy. Resolution of this dispute, primarily between West Germany and France, is considered essential to the successful negotiation later on of a tariff cutting agreement between the six-nation Common Market and the United States.

Witnesses told police Sawicki, a service station operator, was near the ground on a final approach when a gust of wind tossed the plane about 70 feet into the air. They said the engine cut out and the craft plunged sharply to the ground. The craft was destroyed.

Pilot Injured In Plane Plunge At Greenville

GREENVILLE (AP)—Private pilot Joseph P. Sawicki, 41, of Grand Rapids, suffered facial cuts and bruises Thursday in the crash of a light airplane he was landing at Greenville airport.

Witnesses told police Sawicki, a service station operator, was near the ground on a final approach when a gust of wind tossed the plane about 70 feet into the air. They said the engine cut out and the craft plunged sharply to the ground. The craft was destroyed.

Virgin Islander Held For Threat Against Humphrey

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP) — A 22-year-old musician, Israel Nunez Feliciano, has been charged with threatening Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey.

Nunez was arraigned Thursday and ordered held in $500 bail for trial.

A police official said the charge probably will be dropped when Humphrey leaves the islands Nov. 20.

Hunters Warned: Keep Off New Forest Highway

Deer hunters today were warned to respect "road closed" signs on the new forest access road under construction east of Ensign by Reinold C. Chase, Rapid River District ranger, Hiawatha National Forest.

Construction on the road, which will open up a large tract of previously inaccessible national forest lands, is progressing on schedule but the road is still impassable, Chase said.

Hunters were warned to stay off the road for their own safety.

The road runs north and south for 7.5 miles through Hiawatha National Forest from a point north of Bills Creek, terminating at a junction with highway U. S. 2 three quarters of a mile east of Ensign.

Surveys are being completed to extend the road to north to meet Delta County Rd. 442 at its junction with the Camp 27 Rd. (Forest Rd. 2228).

Bidding forms for this section of the road are expected to be mailed from the Forest Supervisor's office in Escanaba about July 1 next year.

Construction on the new road was started last July by Krygoski Construction Co. of Menominee, lower bidder at $133,000 on the contract which includes gravel surfacing.

The rough grading stage of construction is expected to be completed this week.

When finished the road will open 35,000 acres of National Forest land for increased management of timber and wildlife and provide better fire protection. It will also provide the public with free access for recreational purposes.

CONSTRUCTION on a new forest access road east of Ensign in Delta County is progressing according to schedule, but soft sands still make the road impassable and deer hunters have been warned to stay off. Unless heavy snows force a winter shutdown, completion of the road is expected in January. (Forest Service Photo)

Sportsmen Ask Gwinn Action On River Pollution

The Delta County Sportsmen's Club meeting Thursday night at its club house authorized inquiries to the Water Resources Commission, State Health Department, Michigan Conservation Department, Governor George Romney and legislators and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs about pollution of the Upper Escanaba River by the community of Gwinn in Forsyth Township, Marquette County.

The sportsmen have been concerned about pollution of the Escanaba, one of the great fishing streams of the Upper Peninsula, by sewage from Gwinn and Forsyth Township, whose population has been greatly expanded by influx of residents serving K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Roy Jensen, chairman of the Sportsmen Club's committee on pollution, reported to the club that he had been informed by Ralph W. Purdy, chief engineer of the Water Resources Commission that Forsyth Township had entered into an agreement with the state health commissioner to construct sewage treatment facilities and have them in operation by April 1, 1966.

This agreement called for submission of plans and specifications for the facilities not later than April 1, 1964. "We have not been informed by the Michigan Department of Health that the township has submitted plans and specifications in accordance with this agreement," wrote Purdy.

Gwinn has a sewerage system but no treatment plants and flushes its raw sewage into the Escanaba River.

The club planned a venison feed for members and their guests on Thursday evening, Dec. 3. Harold Meiers will be in charge.

The club, which hasn't had a big buck contest in several years, plans renewal of the contest this year with $50 and $25 savings bond prizes for the largest and smallest bucks. Vagn Gydesen will be in charge as weighmaster at the Buck Inn. Contestants should register in the first week of the season.

Harold Meiers told his fellow sportsmen that he hadn't struck a deer on the highway since he started a practice of beeping his horn when he sighted deer. "They either go back or cross the road," he said in suggesting that all deer sighters on highways become horn beepers.

State Senate Leaders Picked

LANSING (AP) — Democratic and Republican senators elected their 1965 leaders Thursday—with new titles reflecting the sweeping changes in the legislature.

At a Detroit meeting, the Democrats named Sen. Raymond Dzendzel of Detroit, last year's floor leader, to the new post of caucus chairman.

Sen. Basil Brown of Detroit was named floor leader — the first Negro ever to hold such a post in the Michigan Legislature.

Sen. John Bowman of Roseville was named president pro tem.

After a get-acquainted meeting with House members and the GOP Central Committee in Lansing, the Republicans picked Sen. Gary Brown of Schoolcraft as minority floor leader.

Sen. Emil Lockwood of St. Louis was named caucus chairman.

Sen. Thomas Schweigert of Petoskey was chosen for the post of minority party whip—the man who, according to tradition, rounds up members of his party to make sure they are on hand for crucial votes.

The selection of leaders was made with a new show of intra-party unity, Lockwood said.

"Two years ago, the vote on party leadership was 12-11, and people had to make pledges of committee assignments to win support to their candidates," he said. "There was none of that this year."

Mexican Leader Pledged US Aid

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, pledging to "take up arms" with Mexico in fighting disease, poverty, hunger and ignorance, pressed ahead today with final talks with Mexico's President-elect Gustavo Diaz Ordaz.

Diaz Ordaz, himself a landslide election victor who will be inaugurated Dec. 1 as the Mexican chief executive, was winding up a 27-hour stay at the Johnson Ranch.

Diaz Ordaz was to return with his wife to Mexico City after another formal session with Johnson and a private luncheon.

The order of the day was not confined wholly to business, however. There was the inevitable tour of the American President's 400 acres, with Johnson as the enthusiastic guide.

In welcoming Diaz Ordaz Thursday afternoon, Johnson said: "We are meeting here to talk together and to work together, and to take up arms together against the ancient enemies of mankind — disease and poverty and hunger and ignorance."

Diaz Ordaz responded by saying: "I am here to seal a friendship with a warm handshake with President Johnson from me and the Mexican people, and to him and through him to the American people."

Honor Students Get Silver Pins

POWERS-SPALDING — In recognition of the scholastic attainment of its students and in observance of National Education Week honor award silver pins have been presented to honor roll students in the Powers-Spalding High School.

School Superintendent Eber Carlson said good scholars are the school's finest product and that in the world of work and competition the habits of study and application pay off well.

"Low marks in school may keep you from the job you desire or from entering the college of your choice," he pointed out. "Your high school record is an indication of your habits and a future employer is very much concerned with this record."

Silver pins, kept by the students so long as they remain on the honor roll, were presented to:

Don't Shoot, Mister

The deer hunt that starts in most of the Upper Peninsula on Saturday morning is expected to harvest 35,000 deer. This is both a big sport and a big business.

That it could be made much larger and isn't shows the Upper Peninsula's casual approach to the recreation business.

There are great preparations for the deer hunt, of course. The merchants stock rifles and ammunition, outdoor clothing, extra supplies of firewater and snacks. There are some contests for the biggest buck and the biggest rack but our hosts of the deer hunters—thousands of whom are guests from Lower Michigan—doesn't go all out on the social side.

Probably the best contribution is that of the women of the churches in the deer country, who prepare hunt dinners for the red-jacketed nimrods as a means of welcoming them and of earning a little money for the church. These hunt dinners have become a welcome part of the sport in many areas and their popularity grows with the years.

Camp cookery ranges from Oscar-of-the-Waldorf excellence to stuff that a scavenging bear wouldn't eat and the cookery that the church women offer is appealing in any event because it is a break from camp dishwashing and a chance to tell somebody about shooting the biggest buck in Section 27.

The Conservation Department makes most of the public preparations for the hunt. This is its duty and pleasure. It reports on hunt conditions and prospects, operates emergency services, checks on the kill, and generally polices the big sport. Good as it is at the job, it seems certain that the future will find the Conservation Department much more deeply involved in making the hunt an even bigger and more satisfying thing.

The Department has been working for many years on improvement of deer herd management. It has learned a good deal about deer biology and habitat and has been able to get public acceptance for a big program of management that now includes the shooting of antlerless deer, the cutting of winter feed for deer, range improvement, timber management to help wildlife, and forest improvement (road construction, culvert work, etc.) that provides more access each year to far forest reaches.

Large areas of the Upper Peninsula still are hunted very little or not at all and the Conservation Department should be able eventually to guide more hunters into these areas to improve hunters' luck and herd control.

But the hunt is an excuse for a recreational experience even more than it is a chance to shoot a deer or bring home some venison. This is amply clear in the character of the hunt. After three days it is pretty much over and the kill is pretty well completed, although the sport season covers a period of two weeks.

The deer hunt is a great outdoor adventure with the thrill of a kill as climax, but when hunters put it in perspective later on it becomes clear that even if there weren't any deer—and most hunters don't get any—it would still be a great adventure. It is a break with city living or farm chores and a satisfying, intimate exposure to nature when she is changing fall into winter.

All the aids to enjoyment of this experience are helpful to satisfaction. The friendly clerk in the outfitting store makes a contribution to the fun. So does the little book of local history in the hunt area. The souvenir becomes a trophy just as surely as the buck's antlers. The little gift from the local friend is treasured along with the memory of the day it rained and the night that the moon was so bright. The honorary membership card in the local lodge of Lost Hunters becomes a conversation piece back home.

The renewal of acquaintance with Mrs. Peterson in the little restaurant is a special pleasure and she gets a promise that the hunters will be back in May so that she can fry their brook trout for them. The local wild cranberry package is something to take home to wife and she'll also get a kick out of the bottle of U.P. maple syrup packaged like Old Granddaddy giggle sap. The garagaman's assurance that he'll come with his plow truck to get them out if there's snow permits them to stay longer and avoid worry.

The "Welcome Hunters" signs in every little town are sort of ridiculous but they make a fellow feel wanted. And how about that agent's sign: "If you're gonna take a chance, how about one of our policies?"

Deer hunters don't want solitude. (Some of them don't even want deer, darn it, when we've got so many to offer.) What they want is to talk with other people, new people, in a new environment. They come bringing something better than the stuff that makes the tills tingle—their friendship. Welcome them and wish them "Good Hunting."

And "Gemutlich." Especially "Gemutlich."

The Doctor Says:

Relaxation Helps Appetite

Q — If a woman loses her appetite, how can it be brought back?

A — The first step should be to find the cause of the loss of appetite, since removing the cause gives much better results than a carload of so-called tonics. In many persons the appetite improves when they give up smoking. In general a relaxed atmosphere at the table, eating slowly and chewing the food well improves digestion and as a consequence, the appetite as well.

Some persons who are underweight have to force themselves to eat fattening foods. As the weight increases their appetite usually improves. Often old persons, especially those who live alone, lack the incentive to prepare attractive meals and fall into poor eating habits. They can be helped by developing outside interests and by joining a group that will share cooking and expenses.

Q — What could cause a fully developed baby to be born dead?

A — A quick-acting sedative obtainable only on a doctor's prescription. It is not habit-forming and is not harmful when taken as prescribed unless the person who takes it is an alcoholic or for an allergy. Could they have affected the baby?

Q — I am 79 years old and have never traveled by plane. Do you think the high altitude would affect my heart?

A — Many persons with heart disease and other ailments are safely transported by plane. The effects of the altitude are not usually felt, especially since you will not be indulging in strenuous exercise. Furthermore, all planes are equipped with oxygen for anyone who needs it. Bon voyage.

Q — Is Valmid harmful or habit-forming?

A — Ethnamate (Valmid) is a quick-acting sedative obtainable only on a doctor's prescription. It is not habit-forming and is not harmful when taken as prescribed unless the person who takes it is an alcoholic or for an allergy. Could they have affected the baby?

So Who's Going to Man the Pumps?

Washington Comment

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The six major new military rockets just unveiled by the Russians in their Moscow anniversary parade confirm the need for new sharp increases in U. S. basic military research.

Several years ago, Nikita Khrushchev decided that military research was more important in insuring Soviet strength than a huge investment in long-range missiles and planes that soon would become obsolete.

He cut back defense procurement and pay and transferred these funds into research and development. The United States went ahead with building large numbers of missiles.

In this, Mr. K. made a major gamble.

Ironically, this decision may have been a factor in his downfall. He had opposition in the armed forces, the President and in the Central Committee.

Because the United States is largely an open society, Soviet scientists can piggy-back on much U. S. research and need not duplicate it in many areas. Thus while U. S. research must go ahead on a broad spectrum to make advance possible Soviet scientists can concentrate in a relatively few crucial areas.

This means it is not necessary for the Soviet Union to put in more total money and effort than the United States to gain an advantage in some key areas.

U. S. strategic military research and development spending is not small. It has increased steadily, but perhaps not fast enough.

Witness these comments by Lt. Gen. James Ferguson, Air Force deputy chief of staff for research and development, in the spring of this year:

"There has been very little growth in the Air Force research and development program during the 1957-65 time period. The real 6 per cent increase in research and development funds in the past nine years provides little flexibility to cope with the complexity of choice we have today."

Some experienced scientists here hold that what's needed most is a sharp step-up in basic research, on which all other research and development depends. Basic research gets down to the fundamentals and makes possible great advances. It is cheap compared to most defense costs. Its payoffs are great.

The Mission Covenant church congregation at Gladstone is very happy over its new electronic organ which was installed this week and replaces the old reed organ that has served the church for generations. A Detroit chiropractor, a bow and arrow hunter while hunting in the Manistiquia area had the misfortune of wounding himself with his bow and arrow. The attending physician can't figure out how the accident happened, the chiropractor insists that it was self-inflicted but refuses to tell how. Anyway, the arrow shaft had entered deeply into his right hip.

mittee. Khrushchev bullied his way through.

It is now known that Mr. K. confided his decision to some Americans several years ago and told them the difficulty he faced in getting his way. He said key men in his government wanted massive production of missiles and planes.

The Moscow parade was one indication that this Khrushchev policy is paying off in some areas. Information reaching the Pentagon and other government agencies indicates this intensive research may be panning out in other armament not yet shown to the public.

It is not enough to say the United States is spending more on military research and development than is the Soviet Union.

SUNDAY SALES
In regard to the article on the hearing on the resolution for Sunday sale of liquor by the glass:

The article states that 60 per cent of those present favored the resolution. This is true, but it does not reveal that every one of those so favoring the resolution was owner or operator of a bar and had a financial interest in such sale.

In short, we were not hearing the voice of the public at all. Those of us who spoke against the resolution will never make a penny from our efforts, but we do sincerely believe conditions will be better if the flow of beverage alcohol is slowed.

Any man who wants to sell a product will speak up on its behalf, but this does not mean that such product is in the best interests of the community. Conditions are worsened whenever liquor sales are increased. Morals are lowered, crime is increased, law enforcement made more difficult.

I sincerely trust that the hearing shall not be construed to mean that we as a community want or need Sunday liquor by the glass. Nothing that was said or done at the hearing indicated such a need!

Pig Party Helps Homely Dames

Dear Ann Landers: I am a regular reader of your column and was interested in the collection of letters you published on co-ed pajama parties. The following week you printed a letter about a yard party (the girl is supposed to make two costumes — her own and her boy friend's — out of one yard of material).

I have a new one for you. At this college in Long Island (I'm a junior) the latest fad is a "Pig Party." All the boys in the fraternity pitch in $1. The boy who shows up with the ugliest girl wins the money.

It sounds sort of mean but honestly, Ann, these parties are a million laughs. There are some unseen advantages which should not be overlooked. It gives the homely dames (who would otherwise never get a date) a chance to go out once in a while. Of course they never know why they are asked, so no harm is done. Don't you agree this is a howl? — FRIED SHOES

Dear Fried: It's the crummiest stunt I ever heard of. Send me the name of the character who dreamed up this one. I'd like to mail him a get-well card.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband told me yesterday that I am an idiot. Why? Because I can't cook or bake anything unless I have a cook book propped up in front of me.

His mother never owned a cook book. She just kept tasting to see if it needed a little more of this or a little more of that.

The other evening I was fixing a rib roast. When my husband came into the kitchen and saw the meat thermometer stuck into the roast he almost broke up. He had never seen a meat thermometer before and insisted only a screwball would go for something like THAT.

Please print my letter, Ann, and let my husband know that people who follow recipes and cooking instructions are not idiots. It would help if you added a line saying you follow recipes, too. Thanks. — CANADIAN COOK

Dear Cook: Sorry — I'm in your mother-in-law's category and, I'm not bragging, but apologizing. I never feel more like a kitchen idiot than when I am happily ignoring instructions, guessing and tasting — then suddenly things don't seem quite right. So I have to rummage through the trash can to find the box and read the instructions.

Some excellent cooks do not follow recipes but the vast majority of home-makers get better results when they do.

Dear Ann Landers: I am secretary to an important executive. These past two years I have met many attractive and interesting men but almost all of them are married. I decided long ago not to get mixed up with a married man.

Two weeks ago a charming and unmarried young man came in to see my boss. My boss was in conference so we had a nice 20 minute conversation. He invited me to dinner that evening and we hit it off beautifully. The next day he took me to lunch I mentioned I was searching for a certain record album. He said "If I find it what do I get?" I replied, "A nice big kiss."

The album arrived yesterday. Mr. Perfect comes back to town next week. Rush your advice. — NEEDLES AND PINS

Dear Needles: Label this one, "Acknowledge — but no action."

ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," gives sound and solid rules for teenage dating. To receive a copy, enclose with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lights Of New Bridge Tested In New York Harbor

NEW YORK (AP) — The harbor lights of New York City have been augmented, if only briefly, by the 752 new lights on the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, longest suspension span in the world.

The occasion was a test at twilight Wednesday of the lights on the bridge between Brooklyn and Staten Island which opens a week from Saturday.

"This is the biggest moment of my life," said Harry Sverdlow, president of the electrical company that installed the lights. He said one man at a $100,000 console will control the bridge's vast electrical system.

Fits On Irregular Lot Site

FLOOR PLANS: Note the excellent traffic circulation of this unusual design, with easy movement from the foyer to any part of the house as well as from the service porch to the patio.

Architects often are asked to design a house that will fit on an irregular lot. Knowing the exact shape and dimensions of the lot makes it possible to produce a design which is both distinctive and practical.

It is more difficult, however, to create a house plan of such flexibility that it can be placed on almost any irregular lot merely by turning the design to suit the terrain. But architect Samuel Paul has done just that in the latest in the House of the Week series with a well-planned three-bedroom ranch with clean contemporary lines and all the modern comforts and conveniences. Its shallow V-shape enables it to be set on an odd-shaped piece of land or, on a conventional plot, to be turned to take advantage of a particular orientation with the sun.

The outstanding interior feature of this interesting house is the sunken, six-sided living room. Two steps below the foyer, it has a fireplace at the rear, space for built-in cabinets and glass galore, including a sliding door to the patio. In addition, the living room may be opened to the family room via a folding door, thus creating a large free-flowing area, ideal for entertaining. The living room is so positioned that anyone opening the front door has a clear view of the stylish fireplace. The huge foyer serves as an effective circulation center, since it is possible to go from there to the living room, the dining room, the family room, one of the bathrooms or the bedroom wing without crossing any other room.

Although the kitchen is open to the family room, which in turn overlooks the rear patio, the major view of the kitchen is toward the front via a corner window over the sink. This unusual departure, in turn, has permitted a convenient service foyer to be located close to the driveway. Although it faces the front, this service entry is well concealed by an outside porch and a wide overhang. The introduction of this added convenience does not take the place of the rear mud room area, with its lavatory, laundry alcove and closet, but is directly tied to it. The resulting "through" service hall, with its front and rear entrances will save much wear and tear over the years.

Another convenience feature is the long breakfast bar between the kitchen and the family room. This bar, together with a table which could be located alongside, can provide enough seats to feed a sizable group.

The bedroom wing, to the right of the entrance foyer, has three bedrooms, two bathrooms

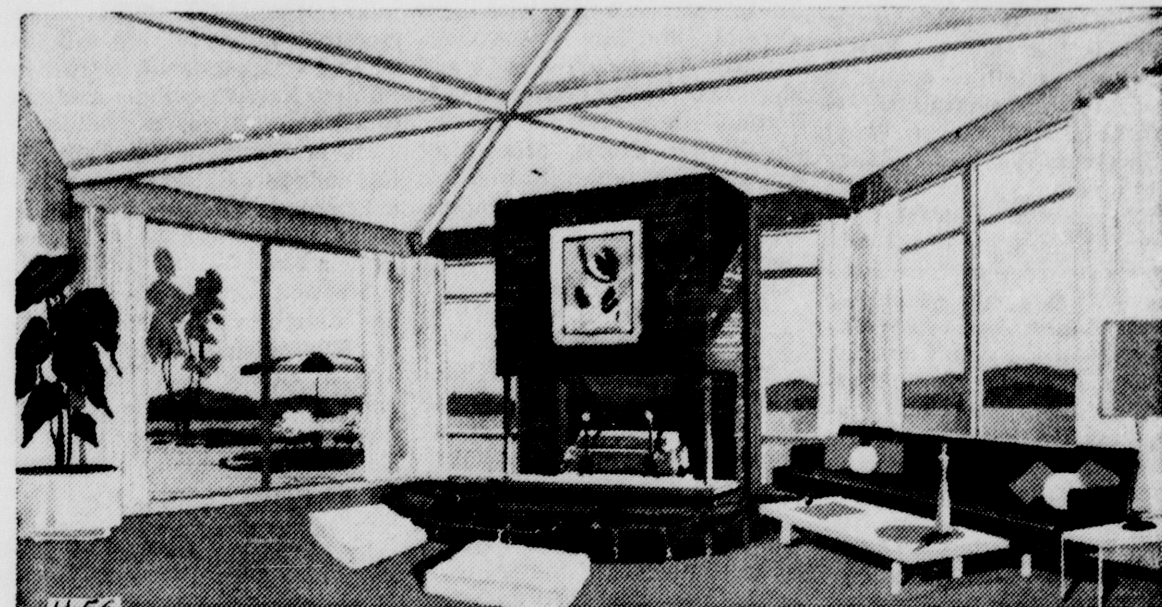

LOW-SLUNG RANCH: The long, low and sheltering lines of this V-shaped ranch house are emphasized by the raised gutter and extended rafters, giving the illusion of a trellis around the lower part of the roof.

and five closets. One of the baths and an over-size walk-in closet are in the main bedroom. Since any well-designed house must have a noise buffer between the living area and the bedroom wing, architect Paul has made doubly certain that any member of the family retiring early will not be disturbed. He has provided for a soundproof wall between the living room and the adjoining bedroom.

The long, low silhouette of Design H-56 is enhanced by the exterior combination of brick veneer and vertical siding. An interesting use of a raised gutter with extended rafters creates a trellised effect around the entire house, adding an attractive play of light and shadow. The 1875 square feet within this house does not include the two-car garage, foyer, basement and patio.

HEXAGONAL BEAUTY: The striking fireplace at the rear of this six-sided, sunken living room is visible from the front door through the large, unobstructed foyer.

H-56 STATISTICS

Design H-56 has a six-sided living room, a dining room, family room, kitchen, three bedrooms, 2½ baths, a service porch, mud room, patio and two-car garage, with provision for a basement. There are 1878 square feet of living area, not including the service porch, patio and garage. The overall dimensions, as shown in the floor plans, are 90' 5" by 48' 1", but the required lot width will vary from 65 to 120 feet, depending on the angle in which the home is placed on the lot.

Pinconning Faces Low Water Crisis

PINCONNING (AP) — Pinconning, with a population of 1,329, has been warned that the low level of Lake Huron's Saginaw Bay is endangering its water supply.

The intake line is covered by only 30 inches of water, and officials fear bay ice may freeze that far down or farther this winter. Such is normal.

City manager Ronald Saha is investigating the possibility of extending the intake line three miles further into the bay, or purchasing water from a new Saginaw - Midland line being built from East Tawas southward.

The latter, however is not scheduled to go into operation until 1966, and Saha is investigating the possibility of tapping the present Saginaw-Midland feeder in event of emergency.

ROOFING PAINT

Asphalt and asbestos-cement roofing shingles should not be painted with regular oil paints. Use water-thinned paints.

Briggs On U.M. Board Of Regents

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has announced the appointment of Robert Briggs of Jackson to the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

Briggs, a vice president of Consumers Power Co. and an unsuccessful Republican candidate for the state board of education, fills out the unexpired term of Regent William McNally, who died last August. The term expires Dec. 31, 1968.

Briggs, 61, a former U-M faculty member, is co-chairman with Romney of the Governor's Special Commission on Traffic Safety.

A certified public accountant, he has served as first president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

FLOORS IN COLOR

Tip on refinishing hardwood floors. To the homemaker who desires a more uniform color in hardwood floors, it is an easy matter these days to apply the newly created "Color Sealers" to the freshly cleaned surfaces. The colors are mixed with a penetrating sealer at the factory. These combination sealers are easily applied if instructions are followed carefully. The color sealers are ideal for finishing the sound lower grades of Northern hard maple flooring. Most local paint and hardware stores now carry these highly recommended color-sealer products.

BEFORE THE Mackinac Bridge opened, deer hunter line-ups were similar to this aerial view of tourists waiting for the ferries in 1957. The "City of Cheboygan", one of the five boats which carried motorists between Mackinac City and St. Ignace, is taking on a load of 76 of the 460 vehicles the five vessels could carry per trip. Lineups of over 20 miles of vehicles were common during hunting seasons. (Bridge Authority Photo)

Big Mac Makes Memory Of Jam Of Deer Hunters

Almost every veteran deer hunter, as he approaches the Mackinac Bridge en route to the Upper Peninsula, recalls "the old days" before Mackinac was built when hunters had to cross the Straits by ferry—which could take anywhere from 2 to 26 hours.

In those days five car ferries—Vacationland, City of Cheboygan, City of Munising, City of Petoskey, and Straits of Mackinac—looked about two hours each, round trip, to ferry a total of 460 cars from Mackinac City to St. Ignace.

Today, in the same two hours, 2,000 cars can drive across the Mackinac Bridge. The line-up of cars waiting to board the boats was famous among deer hunters and has left some historic memories. Most notable was the 26-hour wait, about 10 years ago, when the parking lot in Mackinac City was full; cars were lined up bumper to bumper all the way to Cheboygan and beyond, and there were cars for several miles down the highway toward Petoskey. A 10 to 20 hour wait was average.

The docks and highways were a seething mass of parked cars. Hunters slept behind the wheel as they waited to inch forward; stomped around their cars as they stretched their legs; socialized with one another and tried to out-swear and out-humor one another as they described their frustrating situation of sitting dockside when they wanted to be stalking deer in the Upper Peninsula forests.

Today, the Mackinac Bridge can handle well over 1,000 cars an hour with no waiting. At the very peak of pre-season traffic when cars literally pour across the four-and-a-half mile long northbound lanes, and the southbound lanes are virtually empty, the longest any car might have to wait would be a few minutes at the toll plaza.

The Bridge has been a factor in the increased numbers of hunters going to the Upper Peninsula. In 1958, the first year the bridge was open, 22,000 vehicles carrying hunters crossed the span. Last year, the number leaped to 28,750 and is expected to increase this year.

Completion of the new I-75 freeway, which cuts driving from Ohio to the Soo from more than 12 hours to only 6 hours and 45 minutes, will cut still further the time it takes the hunter to go from home to hunting camp.

Today the hunter can leave Southern Michigan in the morning and take his first shot at an Upper Peninsula deer before nightfall. He has anywhere from one to three more days for actual hunting, than before the bridge and highways were completed. So while he may recall the old days of old highways and car ferries—he isn't wistfully wishing for their return.

For a crumbly topping for a one-crust apple pie, stir a cup of pie-crust mix into half a cup each of granulated and brown sugar; cut in several tablespoons of butter or margarine so particles are tiny.

Wanna Shoot A Deer? Go South

If you can't go to the wilds of Northern Michigan this fall to get a deer, or if you go and don't get one, don't despair. Just step outside your house, no matter where you live in Michigan. The deer you're looking for may be just behind your valuable ornamental shrubbery — chewing on it.

In the 34 counties of southern Michigan south of a line from Bay City to Muskegon, the deer herd has undergone a population explosion in recent years. This area had only a few thousand deer 20 years ago, while in 1964 some 60,000 deer roam the fields, according to Conservation Department estimates.

"The problem in northern Michigan for the last 15 years has been one of danger to the herd itself through deer starvation and depletion of range foods. The problem in southern Michigan, however, is one of danger to human life and property caused by too many deer," states Russell McKee of the Conservation Department.

"Who has the responsibility for this problem? Who can the fruit grower sue? What can be done to protect the farmer's corn crop? When a man drives 60 miles per hour plows into a deer on an expressway, where does the fault lie? Michigan is going to have to come up with some answers soon, because the trouble is getting worse fast."

Deer have ideal range land in southern Michigan. The winters are milder and the deer have plenty of food available, not only woods growth but also farmers' crops. These factors make for a high fawn production rate and excellent fawn survival. Does have been raising an average of close to two fawns per year.

Farmers in all parts of Southern Michigan have reported crop damage caused by deer. Concentrated damage has been reported from some 20 counties in this area. One center of damage is in Livingston, Oakland, and Genesee; and there

Rail Service Need Explained

LANSING (AP)—A community with inadequate rail service "in many instances would be absolutely eliminated from consideration by a company seeking a location," a Consumers Power Co. official said Thursday.

Horace Brewer, director of area development for the out-state utility company, testified in hearings before Hyman Blond, hearings examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission, over proposed rail abandonments in northern and western Lower Michigan.

Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads have asked permission to abandon some 280 miles of track, and the Mackinac Transportation Co.—

owned by the two railroads and the Soo Line—seeks to discontinue rail ferry service across the Straits of Mackinac.

Rebuttal Next

The hearing, originally expected to end this week, may be extended for rebuttal by the railroads and the state. The state is fighting the proposed abandonments.

Because of Northern Michigan's large mineral deposits and lumber resources, Brewer said, the availability of rail service is a prime factor in the location of new industry.

"In the wood and lumber industries, we have found that—aside from the availability of the raw material—availability of railroad service is the number one factor considered in making a decision where to locate," he said. "The same principle would hold true for most industries dealing in a heavy bulk product."

Consumers, which has built a $27 million nuclear reactor plant near Charlevoix to generate electricity, "is directly dependent upon the economic well being of outstate Michigan," he said, adding:

"It is my personal opinion that the abandonment of the rail lines here involved would seriously limit the industrial and economic growth of this broad area."

Boilers Need Repair

Representatives of railroad and maritime unions said the proposed abandonments would immediately affect approximately 145 workers, including some 116 railroad workers and about 29 employees of the straits ferry, the Chief Wawatam.

Capt. Michael Bishop, skipper of the ferry for 15 years before his retirement last Jan. 1, said the hull and engine are in excellent condition.

The boilers could be repaired for $500,000, said Lawrence Haynes of the Hopco Engine Service Co., Jackson. Haynes said he submitted a bid for that amount to the owners of the vessel.

The company, however, said it would cost $1 million or more to repair the boilers for continued safe operation. The cost of repairs has figured in the firm's complaint that the ferry is no longer an economically feasible operation.

The most important single factor is painting a kitchen successfully is the removal of the dirt and grease from the walls and ceiling before starting. Soap and water or a detergent will do the job.

State Briefs

LANSING (AP)—The Greater Lansing Foundation has presented Camp Ingham Inc. with $15,000 to purchase land for a proposed camp to aid boys.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A sign over a shop in Ann Arbor reads: "Help Stamp Out Summer!" The shop sells skiing equipment.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A study of election returns indicates a fewer number of Michigan's eligible voters cast ballots last Nov. 3 than in the 1960 presidential race. The unofficial vote this year was 3,188,163, or 68 per cent of those of voting age in the population. In 1960 the vote was 3,317,000, or 72.5 per cent.

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Frederick C. Brace of Grand Rapids has been installed as president of the Michigan Academy of General Practice. Other officers chosen by the family doctors include Dr. Edgar G. Cochran, Detroit, president-elect; Dr. Lee E. Feldkamp, Plymouth, speaker of the House of Delegates; and Dr. Clare C. Huggert, Lansing, vice speaker.

MANISTIQUE

Veterans Day Is Observed

Veterans Day was commemorated in Manistique Wednesday with a largely-attended dinner in the VFW Hall, at which Edwin E. Wuehle, county school superintendent, was the guest speaker.

Wuehle called attention to the significance of the day, originally known as Armistice Day, and the contribution of veterans, not only in military conflicts but in their communities.

Veterans and educators have a common task of assuring youth that there is good in the world. He suggested veterans consider those who don't win citizenship contests to help them be good citizens, and cautioned against a policy of trying to do everything with law, citing a legislative act can become quite inflexible.

"Youth needs somebody to glow for them," he said as he discussed a fine student assembly held at the school Wednesday in tribute to Veterans Day. He quoted parts from students' texts.

William Hentschell was toastmaster for the program. Archie Carpenter was in charge of arrangements. Gilbert Berwin, chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction. The All-Vets committee arranged the event.

Musical entertainment was provided by Frank Wareham, MHS music teacher, who played piano selections and accompanied Susan Carlson in vocal numbers. The banquet was attended by 150.

THIS IS A NUTRIA shot near Nadeau by Jerry Poupore. It is believed to have escaped from an Upper Peninsula nutria fur ranch. The resemblance of the rodent to the muskrat is evident. (Photo by Eugene Peterson of Carney)

Nutria Shot In Nadeau District

Jerry Poupore shot a nutria east of Nadeau recently. The animal was almost as out of place there as an elephant.

The nutria (coypu) is a rodent that most resembles the muskrat among our northern animals, but it is much larger, attaining weights as great as 25 pounds. More commonly they weigh about 8 pounds.

The animals were brought up from South America and have become pests in Louisiana because of their prolific breeding in the wild—females have two or three litters a year of 5 or 6 young—and voracious eating of vegetation. They are such husky eaters that they have destroyed waterfowl habitat in some southern areas.

There was some concern in the Nadeau area that wild nutria might create a pest problem there, but Joseph Vogt, Conservation Department biologist, says that they cannot survive in the wild in this northern range because of the cold and snow and their vegetation needs. There was a wild colony near Lansing a few years ago, but it has disappeared.

The Conservation Department has denied licenses for the importation of nutria but fur breeders brought them in to the Upper Peninsula several years ago as domestic animals from suppliers in the South. The Conservation Department regarded the business as a marginal one in which the best chance for profits was in selling breeding stock to ranchers at prices as high as $1,900 for three and $1,500 for a pair.

A central marketing association was to handle the pelts but from about 15 nutria enterprises the number in the U. P. had fallen to two and the prospective profits of the trade have not been realized.

Lawrence Chouinard, Jr., and Lawrence Chouinard, Jr., Rte. 1, Gladstone had nutria for four years, but sold off their stock. They sold some pelts but reported them as poor grade and not profitable. Some nutria ranchers still are active in the Lower Peninsula. The fur is sold as an imitation of beaver.

Lansing Family Claims 11 In Military Service

LANSING (AP)—Two Lansing - area families spoke up Thursday after the Veterans Administration asked whether seven brothers who served in World War II could claim a military service record for one family.

The question was asked for the seven Kjera brothers of Pope County, Minn., Wednesday.

Mrs. Eugene E. Konyha of Lansing said Thursday her husband and his 10 brothers all saw service—seven of them in combat. She said her father-in-law also saw service, and the family has a total 99 years in the military, with two members still in uniform.

Kenneth Langin of Riverdale said he and his eight brothers all were in the armed forces—six of them in combat. The brothers claim 69 years' service, with three men still in uniform.

Among the outstanding freshman football prospects at the University of Michigan this fall is a former Upper Peninsula athlete, Terry Salmi of Wakefield. Salmi is a 5 foot 11 inch, 190 pound quarterback and linebacker. As a senior at Wakefield last year, Salmi pitched 14 touchdown passes and booted 12 conversions, earning a first team berth on the All-Upper Peninsula Class C-D team.

Munising senior George Wolfe will get the starting nod at fullback for Central Michigan University in the season finale Saturday against Hillsdale. The 6 foot, 185 pounder is one of a dozen players closing out their careers for Coach Bill Kelly's Chippewas. Central carries a 4-4 record into the contest. Hillsdale is 6-2-1.

Bob Brawley, former standout Sault Ste. Marie athlete, has made the grade in two sports at Michigan State University. The ex-Blue Devil fullback is a guard on the Spartan football squad and a defenseman on the MSU hockey team. Brawley was named to the All-Upper Peninsula football first team as a senior at Soo in 1962.

Five current Upper Peninsula high school head football coaches are products of Willard Anderson, the former Stambaugh grid mentor. Coaches who learned their football at Anderson's knee include Rae Drake of Kingsford, Jerry Pangrazzi of Marquette, Bruno Marana of Ishpeming, Gene Melchiori of Norway and Wayne Melchiori of Ironwood.

Allan Bizeau, Gladstone High School junior varsity football player, is back home and on the road to recovery after undergoing surgery for serious head injuries suffered early this fall. The Gladstone sophomore was awarded a jayvee football letter while hospitalized in Green Bay.

Plans for construction of the first "ski flying" hill in the United States are being made at Copper Peak, located near Ironwood. Plans call for a scaffold about 250 feet high atop a 500 foot hill with an anticipated cost of half a million dollars. The hill would be in the same class as the 120 meter hill at Oberstdorf, Germany, on which a world record leap of 472 feet was made last February by Nilo Zandanel of Italy.

The first Michigan college basketball team in action this season will be Soo Tech. The Hornets, coached by Jack Brighton, open the 1964-65 campaign this weekend with a two game swing into Northern Ontario to face Laurentian University at Sudbury. Pat Groleau, former all-time Nahma great, is a member of the Soo Tech squad.

Coach Marty Crowe, whose Marinette Central eagles won the Wisconsin state Catholic school tournament crown last season, faces a big rebuilding chore this year. Senior Center Jan Roland is the lone returnee from last year's first six players. Crowe has only two other members of that squad back in this season—reserves Phil Peanosky and John Jacques.

Chuck Fournier of Iron Mountain has rolled two national honor counts thus far this bowling season. He spilled a 702 with a 279 singleton two weeks ago and came back with a 703 series this week.

Sports writers who have to battle to get some 15-letter names in their football headlines should love a returning letterman on Coach Jack White's Bessemer High School team. He wins our nomination for the Upper Peninsula player with the shortest name. It's Bob Re, and he's one of nine letter winners who will be back in action at Bessemer next fall. The Speed Boys, who won five of nine this year, lost 12 seniors.

Among the schools nominated for the first annual football sportsmanship award, won by Iron River, were Newberry, Escanaba, Gladstone and Manistique. The selection is based on the conduct of players, fans, coaches and administrators during, prior to and following their games.

Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Manistique Emeralds will compete in the high school portion of the seventh annual Kiwanis Charity basketball tournament to be staged at Sault Ste. Marie Nov. 27-28. Manistique will face Soo and Soo Loretto will meet Rudyard in preliminary games to the college portion of the tournament, involving Soo Tech, Northwood Institute, Northwestern of Traverse City and Laurentian University of Sudbury.

Missouri University's football team, with former Eskymo coach Rollie Dotsch serving as an assistant to Dan Devine, has won five of eight starts this season. The Tigers, who downed Colorado 16-7 last Saturday, will invade Oklahoma this weekend.

Grid Expert Says Colts To Get Even With Vikes

By JACK HAND

Baltimore should get even with the Minnesota Vikings Sunday for the Colts' only defeat of the season and the unbeaten Buffalo Bills should run their winning streak to 10 games at the expense of the Boston Patriots.

A lucky 10-1 record last week boosted the season batting average to 64-29-5 (39-21-3 in the National Football League and 25-8-2 in the American Football League). Let's take another dip: (all games Sunday afternoon)

NFL

Baltimore 31, Minnesota 21—Ever since the Vikings rolled for 488 yards in the season opener and a 34-24 victory, the Colts have been waiting for another crack at Dutch Van Broeklin's gang. Probable loss of Raymond Berry will hurt Johnny Unitas' passing but Colts' defense has firmed since early season.

Cleveland 24, Detroit 17—Lions always jinx team for Browns but loss of Joe Schmidt is a severe handicap to Detroit with Jim Brown crashing up the middle.

Green Bay 31, San Francisco 14—Vince Lombardi has Packers on move and the 49ers aren't going to stop them even at home. Packers won first meeting 24-7 and should roll big on the ground with Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung.

St. Louis 21, New York 17—Despite Giants' 34-17 decision two weeks ago, Cards must win to stay in Eastern race. Pass blocking for Charley Johnson should stand up better than it did in New York with John Lovetere out of Giant rush line for season.

Dallas 17, Philadelphia 10—

Sharpshooter Returns:

Coach Don Hill Has Six Vets Back This Year

HERMANVILLE — Six returning lettermen, including four regulars, will give Coach Don Hill an experienced basketball team this season.

Balancing the experience factor, however, is a lack of height among this year's candidates. Only one player on the squad is over 6 feet tall.

The Redskins lost the services of Dick Gordon, leading playmaker and team captain, along with Bill Palazzo and Gary Johnson while another letterman, Alan Marana, is not out for the sport this year.

Back in the fold are seniors, Ron Povolo, Roger LaCoursier, Dan Vincent, Marty Smith and Dennis McClure and junior Harry Gordon. Povolo, LaCoursier, Vincent and Gordon were regulars last year, although Gordon was sidelined with illness in the middle of the season.

Povolo, 5 foot 9 inch deadeye, is one of the greatest point producers in Upper Peninsula basketball annals. He poured 553 points through the nets last season and has tallied 1,226 in his three year career. Povolo has been named to the All-Upper Peninsula Class D team for the past two years.

Other candidates for the team include junior Don Whitens, sophomores Doug LaCoursier, Len Wellings and Jack Marana and freshmen Randy Fochesato, Rick Antonetti, Dennis Grenier, Art LeBombar, Mike Raiche, John Paul St. Juliana, Ron Tomasi, Bob Wellings and John Whitens.

"Our team is very short, but we do have experienced players at all positions," Hill comments. "Some of the younger players are pushing the regulars for starting positions."

"Offensively we should be fine but we have trouble with our defense, mainly because of our size. We are looking for an improvement in our 13-6 record from last year," Hill states.

Hill, former Norway and Northern Michigan University athlete, has coached the Hermansville varsity team for 11 seasons, compiling an impressive record of 175 victories against 50 defeats. His Redskins won district tournament championships in 1956, 1957, 1960 and 1963 and state Class E crowns in 1957 and 1960. They were conference champs in 1955, 1957, 1958, 1961, 1962 and 1963.

Celts Suffer First Defeat

By The Associated Press

"It was the greatest comeback in the history of basketball."

That was Dolph Schayes, coach of the Philadelphia 76ers, beaming after his 76ers had come from 25 points behind in the third quarter to upset the champion Boston Celtics 110-109 in the National Basketball Association Thursday. It was the Celtics' first defeat of the season after 11 straight triumphs.

"It was the greatest comeback," Schayes went on, "because it was against Boston. That's something that has never happened to Boston."

The 76ers won on Paul Neumann's 20-foot jump shot with eight seconds left to play. It was the first game of a doubleheader before 14,378 at New York's Madison Square Garden.

In the nightcap the Los Angeles Lakers tied the score in the last five seconds then went on to beat the New York Knicks 132-123 in overtime.

Skiing Movie Slated Here On Nov. 19

A film titled "The Sound of Skiing" will be shown Thursday, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at William Oliver Auditorium.

The movie, produced by Warren Miller, is sponsored by the Escanaba High School Ski Club. Tickets are available from members, at Manning Shoe Store and the Gladstone Motel.

Braves Slate 'Open House'

GLADSTONE — Coach Bill Wood announced today that he will hold an "open house" basketball session for parents and fans at the high school gym Monday from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

"We'll run through the new rules and remind the fans of the old rules, with the aid of a registered official. It will also be a sneak preview of our current Gladstone Braves team," Wood stated.

Snook Is Reason Elliott Worried

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan football Coach Bump Elliott says his team will have to be at its "very best" to beat Iowa at Iowa City Saturday.

The Wolverines, who still have a chance at an outright Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl bid, will face an Iowa team led by one of the nation's top passers in Gary Snook.

Iowa, 1-4 in Big Ten play, has lost its last three games by a total of eight points.

"The Hawkeyes have one of the finest passing teams in the country," Elliott pointed out.

The Michigan defense will be weaker for the game. Tackle John Yanz is out for the season because of a knee injury and an ankle injury is expected to sideline defensive halfback Dick Rindfuss.

The game, 24th in the series between the two schools, shapes up as one which will pit Michigan's running power against the Iowa aerial attack.

Michigan, which still leads the Big Ten in total offense and defense, tops the league in average first downs per game, 21; net yards gained, 350.8; yards rushing per game, 242.8; and opponents' net yards, 211.8.

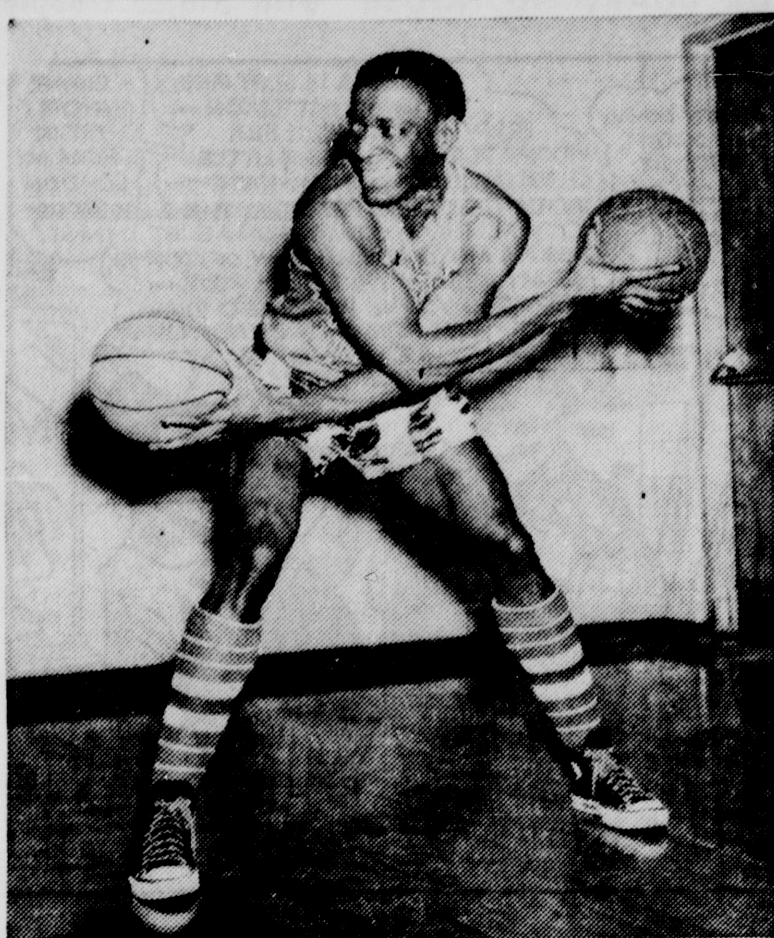

Iowa leads the league in a number of passing categories. The Hawkeyes have averaged

Duffy Will Do Favor For Ara

By The Associated Press
Duffy Daugherty isn't trying to get Notre Dame's Irish up, honest he isn't. It just happens that Daugherty coaches the Michigan State football team that just happens to be the main stumbling block on the road to a perfect season for the Irish.

That makes Daugherty public enemy number one around South Bend, Ind. and the affable little Spartan coach is enjoying every minute of it as he reads his club for their shot at the top-ranked Irish Saturday.

Just to stir things up a bit, Daugherty phoned Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian and told him: "Ara, we're going to do you a favor Saturday. We're going to knock you off and take you off the spot."

ROBERT HALL is one of the well known members of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team that will make an appearance here Saturday, Nov. 21. The game will be played at the Holy Name High School gym, starting at 8. It is sponsored by the St. Patrick's Athletic Club.

Bunning Scoffs At 'Comeback'

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Comeback of the year? Comeback from where? Where have I been?"

These were the questions asked by Jim Bunning, Philadelphia Phils pitcher, when told he had been selected Thursday as the National League's Comeback Player of the Year for 1964 in The Associated Press poll.

Bunning had a 19-8 record with the Phils this year and on June 21 hurled the major leagues' first regular-season perfect game in 42 years. It was against the New York Mets.

He had only a 12-13 record with the Detroit Tigers in 1963 and, in the 1963-64 off-season was traded, along with catcher Gus Triandos, to the Phils for outfielder Don Demeter and Pitcher Jack Hamilton.

Bunning, a resident of nearby Ft. Thomas, Ky., works for a Cincinnati investment house during the winter.

Although he questioned the "comeback" idea, Bunning admitted he pitched better this year than in 1963.

Part of his improved record, he said, was due to a "better defense."

Then, referring to his 1963 record, Bunning admitted: "I didn't pitch well. I pitched 248 innings and for six weeks I pitched as bad as I ever have in my life."

He didn't blame injuries or illness—just bad pitching.

Asked about the 1965 season, Bunning said:

"I'm looking forward to it. I think all of us are. We blew the pennant this year and we don't want to do it again."

The Phils let a six-game lead get away from them in the next-to-last week of the season but salvaged a second-place tie with Cincinnati as the St. Louis Cardinals won the pennant.

Bunning is a 1953 graduate of Cincinnati's Xavier University. He and Mrs. Bunning are the parents of seven children—a daughter, 12; twins, a boy and a girl, 10; a daughter, 8; a son, 6; a daughter, 5, and a son, 3.

Buckeyes Must Win Saturday To Stay Alive

CHICAGO (AP) — The championship shakedown reaches the semifinal stage in the Big Ten football race Saturday with three key games.

Ohio State, the conference leader with 4-0, must bounce back from a 27-0 non-league humiliation by Penn State to keep its title bid alive against Iowa (1-4) and Minnesota (3-2).

Much more on the spot are deadlocked runnersup, Michigan and Purdue each with a 4-1 record, in road contests at Iowa (1-4) and Minnesota (3-2).

Ohio State's Buckeyes, who play only six conference games, are tabbed 16-point favorites over Northwestern which last season knocked the Bucks out of the championship and Rose Bowl bid with a 17-8 upset for Ohio State's only conference loss.

Michigan is a seven-point pick at Iowa, but the Hawkeyes boast one of the nation's most dangerous passers in Gary Snook. The Wolverines must turn back Iowa and presumably win at Ohio State in the following Saturday's final league round to nail down at least a title tie.

The Purdue-Minnesota game is in the "pick-em" category, with the Boilermakers in the traditional Old Oaken Bucket finale Nov. 21. Purdue also needs two victories for a closing 6-1 record and a possible title share.

Ohio State could end all speculation concerning the Big Ten's Rose Bowl delegate by winding up with 6-0. If Michigan and Purdue should tie for first at 6-1, the Rose Bowl nod almost certainly will go to Purdue which never has participated in the Pasadena classic.

Other Saturday games involving Big Ten teams include a conference meeting between Wisconsin (1-4) and host Illinois (2-3), and two outside frays — Michigan State at Notre Dame and Oregon at Indiana.

Illinois, already dethroned as conference champion, is pegged a 14-point choice over cellar-bound Wisconsin.

Fast-rushing Michigan State, winning successively over Northwestern, Wisconsin and Purdue, is a seven-point underdog against top-ranked, undefeated Notre Dame in a nationally-televised game at South Bend, Ind.

Hunters Resist State Urging To Kill More Deer

By JEAN WORTH
Lights will burn in the deer hunting camps west of M-77 in the Upper Peninsula tonight and there will be bang-banging in the swamps and on the ridges with daylight.

This is the greatest participant sport in the Upper Peninsula, no other attracts as many persons at one time nor gets them as excited as they get when a stag prances up and shakes its antlers. Nothing approaches it for reminiscence or fibbing. Any number can play and the odds are so wonderful that the poorest hunter may shoot all the deer for the party.

The hunt has changed a great deal over the years, the deer have changed a little, and the hunters have increased in numbers enormously, although much of the Upper Peninsula still is hunted very little or not at all.

When I was a boy and went with my lumberman father to Sidnaw for my first deer hunt he was running a cedar camp there. I never saw a deer on the trip. My father didn't shoot one and although he spent much of his life in the woods he never did shoot one. In his old age he got a yen to kill a buck but his luck had run out.

The Way It Was
Old Charlie Springer, who came from Germany with Ernest Miller to start a fishery on the west shore of Green Bay, shot a deer in his rye field and felt "just like a murderer." He never took up a rifle again. On the other hand Josiah Brooks said that he shot at least 3,000 deer at his coopersage at the mouth of Fowler Creek.

Charlie "Seagull" Williams said that when his father, Schuyler Williams, was fishing on Green Bay he put his big black hound into the woods whenever the family got tired of a diet of fish and salt pork. When a deer took to the water a boatsman cut its throat. "You had to be a good rower to catch 'em," said Seagull.

Tony Kuse shot seven deer coming over a windfall in front of a dog, piled them up like cordwood. Joe LaRock used to fill venison barrels for old Jim Murtau, a Civil War veteran who shackled on the Big Cedar River, to provide his winter's meat. Charlie Durow of Daggett reported that George Brooks shot 80 deer in one year.

Early Years
All old hunters tell tales like these from the last century and the early years of this century in the Upper Peninsula. When this century was young the county clerks in the more populous U. P. counties sold 300 or 400 deer hunting licenses. Many of the hunters went to logging camps, which abounded then.

Menominee County newspapers reported deer very plentiful in 1903 when most hunters took a train to some distant hunting ground and brought back their deer in the baggage car to be stacked up like cordwood on the depot platform. The automobile era was still distant—it didn't really begin until the World War I period—and it brought in a new type of hunting. Hunters rode out to local forests for day hunting and returned at night.

Menominee newspapers reported in 1908 "The county is deerless!" The next year a one-deer law was proposed. The years 1912-15 were poor hunt years in many areas of the Upper Peninsula. There were great burn areas with little deer feed or cover where fire had run through logging slash.

The deer came back with the new forests and in numbers that exceeded anything that hunters remembered. The importance of food and cover for

After The Season
The biologists seem to be gaining public acceptance of their insistence that saving the females and cropping the males isn't the best way to keep a big deer herd. The way is to keep all the deer in balance with the feed.

There has been hunting in the mid Upper Peninsula for 175 years but it has only been in relatively recent years that there has been much scientific knowledge about deer, and there's still much to learn. An unexpected problem has been hunter rejection of expert counsel. I lot of hunters still are saying "When we had the one buck law we had a lot more deer than now!"

Of course! They'd have been here if we'd had a 9 buck law. (When deer starve, the big bucks are the last to do.)

The hunt is actually even more of a conversation piece than an outdoor sport. After the opening flurry of the hunt the woods are almost empty of hunters. They're back home arguing about what the Conservation Department did wrong. But there are still lots of deer in the woods. They learn that when they go out to cut a Christmas tree.

Scratched Rolls Replaced; Sent Back To London
CREWE, England (AP)—Gordon Ignatiewicz, a Canadian car fancier, found a scratch on his new Rolls-Royce. He packed it off from Toronto to the Rolls headquarters in London with a sharp letter of complaint.

The company dispatched another new Rolls — unscratched — across the Atlantic by mail.

"We couldn't do this for everybody," said Dennis Williams, a company spokesman, "but Gordon is only 8 — and the car was a 4-inch model."

Only One Pupil In School At Copper Harbor

COPPER HARBOR (AP)—When it's recess time at the Copper Harbor School, only one pupil runs outdoors to the playground.

That's because 6-year-old Jimmie Billings is the only student in the unique school which not only has one pupil—but one room and one teacher. It also is the most northerly building in the Midwest.

New Funds Will Aid Recreation

LANSING (AP)—When Michigan starts receiving federal conservation funds, a first step probably will be to buy land "before it slips away from us," Conservation Department director Ralph MacMullan declares.

MacMullan spoke to nearly 300 local officials who came to learn how funds from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund Act could help local recreation programs.

The program is expected to bring about $2.4 million to Michigan in fiscal 1965-66 and within a few years should bring the state about $5 million a year on a 50-50 matching basis, he said.

The department will administer the fund in Michigan, deciding which local projects qualify for matching aid.

"I am well aware that this program is not one for the department to win any popularity contests," MacMullan said. "We are going to disappoint some of you, and we frankly admit it."

He added: "We are going to make impartial judgments based on thoughtfully developed technical criteria that we can defend."

"It is our philosophy that the state should provide those needed outdoor recreation facilities which are beyond the capability of any one local unit to develop or maintain," MacMullan said.

The department has the choice of using the money for state projects or passing it on to local governments.

Federal law specifies the money may be used for preparation of a comprehensive statewide outdoor recreation plan and water areas and development of public recreation facilities.

Funds will come from admission fees at some federal recreation areas, proceeds from sale of surplus federal property and the existing tax on motor boat fuels.

MacMullan was asked whether the program would lead to federal control over recreation facilities.

Once the federal government's criteria for receiving funds are met, "no further restrictions come in," MacMullan said.

MacMullan said the department expects to have a master plan for Michigan recreation ready Jan. 1 for approval of the secretary of the interior.

Gregg Speaker At Sportsmen's Club Meeting

HERMANSVILLE — Glenn Gregg, regional manager of the Conservation Department at Marquette spoke to members of the Hermansville Sportsmen's Club at Rodman's dining room Tuesday evening.

He devoted a large part of his time to a question and answer session. He spoke about campgrounds and public access sites. Menominee County has two campgrounds on the Big Cedar River and Menominee River, he said. Carney Lake in Dickinson County was developed this year. Eleven fishing sites have been developed in Dickinson, Delta and Menominee Counties. On these fishing sites limited camping is available. Sixty forest campgrounds are in the U. P. and are on streams, lakes, rivers, etc.

In response to a question about the Big Cedar River, Gregg said this is high on the priority list, with work to be expedited next year. Much will be done on the Cedar River.

Members of the Hermansville club discussed their top project, the development of the Hermansville Lake as a fishing spot. Gregg noted the success of the Hermansville Lake development and the part the Conservation Department played in it.

Gregg also talked about duck marshes, the emphasis on warm water fish, northern pike particularly and introduction of "new" fish in Michigan waters. He described the problem encountered at the Thompson hatchery where thousands of trout fingerlings perished this summer.

The new constitution will bring may new bills before the legislature in the next session, he added. Along with this, he touched on the recommendations of Governor Romney's "blue ribbon" commission.

After Gregg's talk, the group enjoyed lunch and refreshments. Frank Rodman was program chairman.

Speeders Rank High In Traffic Fatality Survey

LANSING (AP)—A study of 40 drivers killed in one-car accidents showed that all but five had previous speeding convictions. Secretary of State James Hare has learned.

Hare revealed results of the study at a State Safety Commission meeting. At the meeting, the five-member commission re-elected Hare as its chairman.

Hare said all but three of the 40 drivers had a prior traffic conviction record ranging from two to 38 points and 12 previously had been convicted of reckless driving.

Hydroplane Race Set For July 11 On Bay de Noc

Bay de Noc Regatta Association officials were cautiously jubilant today over the announcement that unlimited hydroplane boat racing has been tentatively scheduled here next summer.

The American Power Boat Association, meeting in Rochester, N.Y., set July 11 for a race on Little Bay de Noc.

The race was one of nine scheduled for the 1965 racing circuit of the unlimited class boats.

"That was the date we wanted," said Claude Tobin, Jr., secretary of the Regatta Association. "I think it's perfect. We got what we wanted. Now we've got to get working."

Next move, according to Tobin, is formation of a permanent organization, probably in corporation form, to promote and handle the details for the race.

Up To Us

"We've got a date. It's up to us to put on the races," said George Harvey, city manager of the City of Escanaba who has been active in Regatta Association efforts to land a race for the area.

"I think that this would certainly mean a lot to this community, but it's going to mean an awful lot of work. When you attract thousands of people you've got to be prepared."

Gust Asp, President of the Association, said "I'm very happy. I think we can make this a big success."

The Regatta Association two weeks ago had authorized a tentative bid of $15,000 in prize money, plus $500 towing charges for each boat that makes a legal start.

Increase Speed

About 15 boats would be expected for races here, the second of the racing season next summer.

Other races have been tentatively set for June 20 at Gun-

School Crisis Solution Up To Educators

pare children from disadvantaged neighborhoods for school is "possibly the best attack we can make on poverty, especially in urban areas."

Thomas Brennan and Dr. Leon Fill called for programs to "harmonize the jobs available and education." Brennan mentioned what he called "sub-professional" areas such as some electronics work.

Irving Bluestone, co-chairman of the governor's Education Committee on Higher Education, said the committee hoped to have its report on Romney's desk by mid-December.

The report, he said, "will attempt to develop over-all suggestions with broad brush strokes." In answer to a question, he said he hoped it could serve the board of education in preparing a detailed master plan.

Romney credited the committee's interim report on financial needs of Michigan schools with leading to higher educational appropriations than would have been possible otherwise.

Robert Cahow of the Higher Educational Facilities Commission said his organization is calling for applications by Dec. 31 from universities and colleges hoping to receive some of Michigan's $10.2 million allotment of federal funds for buildings.

Grouse Hunting Success Spotty

The luck of partridge hunters in the season which opened Oct. 1 and closed Nov. 10 in the mid-Upper Peninsula was spotty, the Conservation Department reports.

Biologists Joseph Vogt and Thomas Prawdzik say that in the Escanaba District No. 3 (Delta and Marquette counties and the west half of Alger), bags varied by locale. The best hunting was north of Republic, and it was good in parts of Alger County, the west part of Delta County. The Michigan-Panorama Tower area was the best in years and only in the Ensign area one officer reported poor success.

Prawdzik, checking more than 70 birds, found 5.5 young birds to one adult. Brood survival was reported excellent and the season was better than had been expected in most areas.

Pheasants: Spring crowing cock survey showed population similar to 1963. Very light hunting with minimal kill.

Woodcock: Many moved out early in the season but good numbers remained scattered in district, a few until the end of the season.

Jacksnipe: Good population, especially along the Lake Michigan shore with hundreds on the Portage Marsh mudflats. Practically unhunted.

Weather: Snow and cold hit northern range Oct. 4 and drove birds to heavier cover. Brush hunters with dogs found birds through most of the season; road hunters did poorly after the first few good days. Leaves were down in northern half by Oct. 3, south half by Oct. 12; packed by snows on Oct. 4 in north.

Hunter success: Delta County: 67 hunters in 233 gun hours took 23 ruffed grouse in 100 hours, 25.3 animal per 100 hours, to average 0.9 animal per
